Please excuse repetition but there was a man in Medina last week who had not read the Red Cross news in the Sentinel. He was a British soldier enroute from Cleveland to Columbus, on foot and with only ten cents and a handful of peanuts in his pockets. The soldier was directed to Red Cross headquarters, where after investigation, it was decided to furnish transportation to Columbus. Some of his own countrymen in Medina, becoming much interested in the soldier wayfarer looked after other needs, entertaining him hospitably. He went his way rejoicing and with Red Cross transports in his erstwhile near-empty pockets.

Refugee Clothing
Chatham Auxiliary's donation of new clothing for refugees took the form of 12 children's nightgowns and 19 children's skirts.

Red Cross also received from Valley City 12 sweaters, 5 prs. socks and 4 prs. wristlets.

Auxiliaries please notice all knitting, yarn, etc., must be turned in before May 1st.

Why Knit?

Because there are still 1,400,000 American soldiers overseas and many men in home camps, most of these have two feet and should have at least two pairs of socks per month; the Red Cross is going to "finish its job."

Red Cross is still running true to form also in its co-operation with other war activities. The signing of the armistice did not spell GO TO SEEP for Red Cross workers. They will be ready for the Victory Loan.

This newspaper space generously reserved for the Red Cross by the editors will, by permission of Executive Com. Medina County Red Cross, be used for Victory Loan propaganda.

Del Roshon and wife of Wadsworth spent the past week with Medina friends.

Fred Alderfer of Sharon, formerly a resident of Medina, escaped serious injuries last week when a large truck he was driving from Sharon enroute to Akron became mixed up with two other machines near a bridge and toppled over an embankment into a creek. The truck lay on its side while its contents were scattered promiscuously about the fields. The truck was damaged slightly but nobody was injured.

Heads of the Red Cross of America, England, France, Italy and Japan are now attending a conference in Cannes, France, which is second only in importance to the meeting at Versailles, at which the League of Nations will be formed.

The conference is mapping out a universal health program, to be adopted by nations of the world. Measures for handling problems of world relief in emergencies such as fires, famine and pestilence, sound ways in which the public health may be improved, and ways to relieve all human suffering and distress are being planned. The program adopted cannot help but largely influence any plans for the League of Nations.
